

CHAPTER -2

SOCIALISM IN EUROPE AND THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION

POINTS TO REMEMBER:

- The French Revolution opened up the possibility of creating a dramatic change in the society.
- There were groups /ideas that looked to change society according to their thoughts and visions.
- Liberals, Radicals and Conservatives were three main groups.
- Liberals: main ideas-
 - (i) Tolerance of all religions
 - (ii) Opposed the uncontrolled powers of the king.
 - (iii) Supported the rights of the individuals
 - (iv) Supported a representative, elected parliamentary government and independent judiciary.
 - (v) Did not support universal adult franchise (right of every citizen including women)
 - (vi) Supported private property.
- Radicals: main ideas-
 - (a) Government based on majority.
 - (b) Opposed the privileges given to great landowners and wealthy factory owners.
 - (c) Many of them also supported women's suffragette movements.
 - (d) Supported private property but disliked concentration of property in the hands of a few.
- Conservatives: main ideas-
 - (1) Opposed liberals and radicals.
 - (2) Asserted that past must be respected.
 - (3) Change should be slow.

- It should be kept in mind that it was the era of Industrial Revolution. With industrialization, many changes came in the society and economy. With the growing problems of unemployment, long working hours, poor wages, housing, sanitation etc., many people tried to search solutions to these issues.
- SOCIALISM: Socialists were against the private property but had differing ideas on how a society without property could operate. Some of visions of socialists are as follows:
 - (1) Robert Owen- sought to build a cooperative community.
 - (2) Louis Blanc- He wanted the government to encourage cooperatives and replace capitalist enterprises.
 - (3) Karl Marx and Fredrick Engels- They argued that the industrial society was 'capitalist'. The capitalists owned the capital invested in the factories, and the profit of capitalists was produced by workers. Thus, capitalists exploit the workers.

Marx believed that this capitalist system would be triumphed by the workers and a socialist society would be established where all property would be socially controlled.

- Autocracy- The rule by the king with absolute powers.
- Bloody Sunday- over 100 workers were killed and 300 wounded, when the procession of workers near Winter Palace was attacked by the police. This incident is known as Bloody Sunday. It started a series of events that became known as the 1905 Revolution.
- Duma- Russian Parliament.
- The First World War (1914-1918)- The first World War was fought between the Central Powers (Germany, Austria and Turkey) and Allied Powers (France, Britain and Russia).
- February Revolution- In February, 1917, there was acute shortage of food in the workers' quarters. This led to many protests. Soldiers also joined the striking workers. Sensing trouble, the Tsar abdicated and a Provisional Government was formed. Thus, the monarch was brought down in the February Revolution of 1917.

- April Theses- In April 1917, the Bolshevik leader Vladimir Lenin returned to Russia from his exile. He presented three demands which are known as Lenin's April Theses. These were:

- (i) The war (First World War) must be brought to a close.
- (ii) Land must be transferred to the peasants.
- (iii) Banks must be nationalized.

- The Revolution of October, 1917:

As the conflict between the Provisional Government and the Bolshevik grew, Lenin emphasized on the uprising against the government. The uprising began on 24 October. By the nightfall, the city was under Bolshevik's control and the ministers had surrendered. Uprisings took place in other cities as well. This revolution is known as the October Revolution.

- What changed after the Revolution of October, 1917:

- (i) Private property eradicated. Most industries and banks were nationalized.
- (ii) Land was declared social property land of nobility seized.
- (iii) Ban on use of old titles of aristocracy.
- (iv) Russia signed peace pact with Germany.
- (v) Russia became a one-party state and the Russian Communist Party was the only party.
- (vi) Censorship in all aspects of life was imposed.
- (vii) Beginning of civil war in Russia.

- Civil War: After the Revolution, entire Russia was divided in three groups- viz. the Bolsheviks (the 'reds'), the 'greens' (Socialist Revolutionaries) and the 'whites' (the Tsarists) A Civil War among these groups started in Russia. The 'greens' and the 'whites' were supported by France, USA, Britain and Japan. Looting, banditry, and famine became common during the Civil War.

- How was the Russian society socialised?

- (i) Nationalization of banks and industries.
- (ii) Collective farming.

- (iii) Central planning, beginning of Five Years Plans.
 - (iv) An extended schooling system developed; arrangements were made for factory workers and peasants to enter universities.
 - (v) Crèches were established in the factories.
 - (vi) Availability of cheap public health care.
 - (vii) Model living quarters for the workers.
- Collectivisation: Stalin started the Collectivisation programme in Russia. Under this, the peasants were forced to cultivate in collective farms (kolkhoz). The bulk of land and implements were transferred to the ownership of collective farms. Peasants worked on the land, and the Kolkhoz profit was shared.
